A unique opportunity to study for a British qualification in Accounting and Finance in Cyprus

(The programme has been granted nine exemptions from the ACCA examinations)

Intercollege Limassol offers a programme in Accounting and Finance that is validated by Middlesex University. Upon successful completion of the programme, students are awarded the BA (Hons) in Accounting and Finance by Middlesex University and may, if they wish, participate in the graduation ceremony of the University in London.

How can I study in Cyprus and be awarded a degree from a British University?

European Union Regulations and the Laws of the Cyprus Republic allow educational institutions in Cyprus to award degrees from recognized universities from European member states. Obviously, in order to allow this to happen, the universities must be satisfied that the quality of education at the institution with which they cooperate is of such a standard that it justifies the award of their degree. In the case of Intercollege Limassol, Middlesex University has carefully assessed the programme leading to the BA (Hons) in Accounting and Finance and is satisfied that its quality, as well as the standard of its delivery, justify the award of a Middlesex University degree. It is worth mentioning that Middlesex University and its relationship with Intercollege Limassol are supervised by the Quality Assurance Agency of the UK (QAA), the Agency that safeguards quality and standards in British Universities.

Cypriot students registered under this programme are entitled to a Cyprus Government grant provided that they satisfy the financial criteria set by the Ministry of Finance.

What is the programme duration?

The programme's duration is three years (full-time) or six years of part-time study (two modules per year). However, non-EU students are required by Law to study on a full-time basis. Students who are required to study for the foundation course will need an extra year.

Graduates from public secondary schools in Cyprus may be admitted to the programme through different routes:
